

He's paying for his parking with RingGo Corporate

RingGo Corporate Making business parking easier

Do you have employees who pay for business parking locally or around the UK? Would you like to reduce their hassle – and the headache for you over expense claims and invoice processing?

Take a look at RingGo Corporate – the service which lets you nominate employees who can pay for their parking direct to your company account, with a simple phone call.

RingGo Corporate Better for you; Better for your employees

With RingGo Corporate, you can:

- Manage company parking expenses – see who's parking where, for how long, and when
- Create and download Management reports through a secure web interface
- Reduce the administrative burden of "pay and claim" and "lost" parking receipts

With RingGo Corporate, your employees can avoid:

- Hoarding cash for their business parking
- Keeping receipts for their parking
- "Paying and claiming" for parking expenses
- Worrying about a parking fine – up to 42 per cent of fines are to drivers that are willing, but unable to buy a ticket.

No tickets, no claims, no hassle

How it works

RingGo Corporate operates with a pre-paid account, which you set up.

Every time one of your nominated employees parks using RingGo Corporate, the funds are debited with the correct amount.

You can nominate employees by mobile or the vehicles they use – so the account can cater for pools of vehicles or mobiles.

For more information see www.RingGo.co.uk/Corp-Operations

How much does it cost?

RingGo Corporate Account users pay the same as personal RingGo users (the parking fee plus a convenience charge).

Corporate Account users automatically receive a text message confirming their parking session and are also notified 10 minutes before their parking runs out (standard text charges).

An Account Management fee is made for setting up and administering the service, based on the number of mobile phones and vehicles you have on your account.
